

VACCINATING PUPILS.

Seventy-Two Allegheny Scholars Operated Upon Yesterday.

ONE LITTLE GIRL IS OVERCOME.

All the Other Children Near the Pain Without Murmuring.

WHAT IT COSTS THE CITY TREASURY

Seventy-two Allegheny school children were vaccinated free at the City Hall yesterday afternoon.

There was much jostling, pushing and general rustling among the little ones as to who should be next, but there was no real trouble, and everything went off smoothly.

The little ones were not allowed to witness the operation performed on their companions. No one but Dr. Hazard and his diminutive patient were in the office at the time.

One Little Girl Fainted. They all found out within the hour, however, for at the expiration of that time the entire number had virus in their little arms.

There was but one case which caused any genuine excitement, it being that of a 13-year-old girl who fainted from the operation.

The vaccination of the Allegheny school children has been going on for the past two months.

Dr. Hazard having spent one hour of his time on each Monday, Wednesday and Friday during that period in doing the work.

All has been practically smooth sailing so far, he having attended to probably 800 or 1,000 children since July 1.

Yesterday was one of the busiest days he has had.

"All the school children of the city," he said, "have to be either vaccinated before school opens or else show a good mark as the health ordinance requires."

The latter case is where the child has undergone the operation and the spot where it was performed shows it to have been effective.

In case they have to be vaccinated they can have it done by any reputable physician, any one of the three physicians of the city who treat the poor as myself.

The Operation Costs Nothing. "The poor" physicians, as they are called, and myself, have to do the work for nothing.

All children who are vaccinated must have a certificate from the physician stating that the operation was successful.

Many of those who come to me, I might say 50 out of the 70 or 72 who come to-day, are others and are under the impression that the work must be done by me or it will not be accepted.

I have no idea how many children have been vaccinated in the city, nor how many have yet to have it done, as only a percentage of them are treated by me.

The operations will cost the city about $50 for medicine.

This year Pittsburg school officials have been more strict than ever in enforcing the vaccination of school children.

During the present vacation hundreds have been inoculated with the vaccine virus.

It is estimated that millions of lives have been saved by the virus which Jenner discovered, and its use is now known the world over.

There is one farm in Denver where the matter is prepared, as well as one in Rochester, this State.

VIBRATING TREATMENT.

The Patient Instead of the Medicine to Be Well Shaken.

T. N. Hunt, of New York, who was a guest at the Central Hotel yesterday, was discussing the development of "vibratory medicine" with Dr. Canale.

His idea, he said, was that of Dr. Charcot, the famous Parisian physician. The latter had for a long time observed that persons who were afflicted with shaking palsy always experienced great relief after railroad travel.

Taking this suggestion as an uncontroverted fact, he has constructed an apparatus which made the identical motions of those communicated by the railroad car.

After the sittings in the "trembling" arm chair the sick with this malady had more stiffness in their movements.

They ceased to be agitated by spasmodic twitches and slept calmly, giving their great relief. Going still further Mr. Hunt said M. Gilles, of La Tourette had invented and constructed a vibrating head gear for the purpose of transmitting localized vibrations to the head.

This vibrating head gear made a person hear a soft buzzing or humming sound resembling the hum of a fly.

It produced, even in healthy persons, a strong tendency to sleep. It proved to be a precious discovery in cases of insomnia.

In many instances the application has been sufficient to separate sick headaches, and to ameliorate some cases of inflammation of the nerves.

The vibratory medicine has in Mr. Hunt's estimation, shown its right to be ranked among those medications which have demonstrated their usefulness.

CHANGING THEIR LUCK.

Why Rivermen Sometimes Change the Names of Their Boats.

The changing of the name of the steamer General Daves to U. K. Riggs suggests the great amount of superstition among the rivermen about the name of a boat.

When an unlucky boat comes into new hands the first thing sought after, to break the bad luck, is a new name.

This can usually be obtained by application through the home-port clerk to the Commissioner of Navigation.

If the boat is not under 10 years old by applying 40 per cent of the first cost to improvements it can be rechristened.

Machinery after it is 10 years old, will prevent a boat's getting a new name.

Rivermen are constantly changing the names of their craft to bring them better luck.

The Ingomar was named after a boat which was particularly unlucky. It sunk under this name, was raised and renamed the Jolly Brothers.

It has not been successful under this name, either, and would undoubtedly be changed now if the boat's age did not deter the owners from doing so.

AT THE UNION MILLS.

Departments at Both Plants in Operation Yesterday Morning—Shoepberger's Men Stick to Their Original Demands—News of the Labor World.

The Upper and Lower Union Mills were in operation yesterday. Several of the skilled non-union men failed to put in an appearance, but it is said the firm had a sufficient number of new men on hand to replace the absentees.

The strikers induced seven workmen to leave the company's employ. Among them were two Poles who could not understand English.

After laboring with them an hour they were allowed to go. In the Twenty-third street plant the 20-inch old plant and 13-inch mills were in operation. At the Twenty-ninth street works the 73-inch mill was started and the bumper shops were put into partial operation.

During the afternoon the Finance Committee of the Amalgamated Association distributed funds amounting to several hundred dollars among the strikers. Louis Weiss, who was assaulted on Friday and received his wounds yesterday morning, the management deducted $10.00 from the amount for board and shoes.

Weiss said, although he had no written compact, the agreement was to furnish him board and clothing free. In the Juniata Mills. The Trouble in the Open Hearth Department Has Not Been Settled.

At the Juniata Mills of Schoenberger & Co. trouble still prevails in the open hearth steel department. The workers have not receded from their original demand, and the firm will not make the necessary concession to secure harmony.

On Saturday last Mr. John Speer, one of the leading members of the concern, said that they were tired of trying to arrange an amicable settlement with their employees, and would start up with or without them to-day.

Last evening it was stated that the matter was in a fair way of being settled, but this statement could not be confirmed.

In fact, several of the employees seen yesterday said they had heard of no arrangement being effected. They laughed at the idea of the mill running non-union and declared that was one mill in the country at least that would never run with other than union labor.

Mr. Speer is very determined, and said his firm will not give in. They have a number of applications on hand from skilled steel workers which they think of accepting if their men do not return.

PERFECTLY SATISFIED.

Moorhead Bros. & Co. Will Keep Their Non-Union Workmen.

The statement that the rolling mill of Moorhead Bros. & Co. at Sharpsburg would hereafter employ union men is denied.

It was said that John Moorhead, Jr., had sent for the mill committee representing his old-time Amalgamated workmen to make arrangements for his former employes to return to the mill.

Mr. Moorhead was seen at the Pittsburg Club last night. When questioned concerning the report that he would discharge his non-union men he said: "Such a statement is foolish. We are perfectly satisfied."

Has Accepted Another Place.

The Carnegie Steel Company has received the resignation of William A. Watt, who has been connected with the Edgar Thomson Mills at Braddock for some time.

He has accepted the position of Chief Chemist at the Linden Steel Company's Works. His resignation takes effect September 1.

Another Mill Resumes.

After a shut down of several months the Pittsburg Forge and Iron Company resumed operations yesterday at Woods Run.

Four in 22 puddling furnaces was lighted. The remaining departments will probably be started this evening or to-morrow morning.

POO-BAH OF A BOROUGH.

High Constable, Chief of Police, Lamp-licker and Fire Chief Bigley, of Bellevue, Wants His Pay—Trouble Over Stock Deals—Court News.

An unusual suit was entered yesterday in Common Pleas No. 3. The case is that of Mr. Bigley against the borough of Bellevue to recover $256.92.

Bigley states that for a time he was high constable of the borough, also chief of police, lamplighter and fire department for the place. In 1889 the Borough Council passed an ordinance providing that the regularly elected constable should be chief of police and that the police force should light the street lamps.

The chief was to receive $2 per day and as he was the whole force he lighted the lamps. He was also the fire department. Bigley was constable in 1890 and 1891 and in 1892 was re-elected after a close campaign.

In April, however, the Council passed an ordinance repealing the ordinance making the constable the Chief of Police and separated the offices, superceding Bigley as chief. A warrant was drawn for his salary for April, but the Burgess would not give it to him until he would agree to relinquish his claims to the various positions. This Bigley would not do.

He now claims to be willing to perform his duties, and that he cannot be discharged, as he only ran for a year. He claims that he would get the other positions and salary. He claims there is now due him $244 salary and $12.92 for subpoenaing witnesses, etc., a total of $256.92.

TROUBLE OVER A STOCK DEALER.

An Investor Who Protests Against His Broker's Methods.

C. J. McKee yesterday entered suit against William G. Stahl and John A. Jardina for $10,000 damages. He states that he commenced dealing with the defendants in 1890, and they gave money to them to buy stocks for him.

He directed them to buy C. B. & Q. and other railroad stocks, and Sugar and Lead Trust stocks. During 1890 and 1891 the defendants furnished him slips purporting to be a record of the actual deals in these stocks.

On the faith of their representations McKee advanced, as appeared by the slips, $5,000 in cash. The truth was no such purchases or deals in the said stocks were ever made on account of the plaintiff.

On the contrary, it is charged, they appropriated the money to their own use without any legal consideration or right. He therefore wants $10,000 damages.

SUING FOR A LEASE.

Albert A. Stewart Says He Has First Claim to Gas Territory.

A bill in equity was filed yesterday by Albert A. Stewart against John D. Robb and the Okadale Gas Company. Stewart states that on July 15, 1892, Robb agreed to lease to him the oil and gas rights of a tract of land in North Fayette township for $2,500.

The following day Stewart tendered the money and asked for the written lease. Robb, however, would not execute it, stating that a few hours previous he had leased it to the Okadale Gas Company for $5,000.

Stewart now claims that the territory is valuable and that he has a prior right. He therefore wants the lease to the gas company declared void and one given to him.

BURNED THE MIDNIGHT OIL. Charles McGovern Has a Grievance Against a Police Officer. Charles McGovern entered suit before Alderman S. J. Tool, against Policeman William Lemon charging him with aggravated assault and battery.

McGovern complied with his request objecting to the remark, saying he was no officer. With this, it is said, Lemon ran over to him and commenced to beat him with his mace. He clubbed him unmercifully, hitting him in the mouth and blacking one of his eyes. After all this he didn't arrest him, but let him go his way. McGovern now sues the officer.
